MARKET STAGNANT

Attempt to Put Up Prices Caused Active Selling.

SUCCEEDED BY DULLNESS

Market Flattend Out and by Midday There Was Little or No Motive Power Left-Bonds Dull and Generally Heavy.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—To-day's stock market flattened out entirely, and by mid-day there was little or no motive power left in the market. An attempt to put up prices this morning met with active selling in Pennsylvania, which cost that stock a point and was unexplained by any news. Amalgamated Copper made some show of strength on a rather vague supposition that trades were to be adjusted to a basis that would be profitable to the company. One or two other stocks moved feelby from time to time, but did not long maintain their new position.

There was reported a hardening tendency in the London money market, but sterling exchange moved downwards here. Our own money market was appreciably firmer. The sub-Treasury has reversed its first tendency to contribute to the money market and has commenced to take a small sum each day. The current redemption of national bank notes has been very heavy. Meantime the Government continues to collect a daily surplus of revenue, which will make itself more felt with the retirement of bank notes. The Wabbash net carnings for December showed the gain in gross surplus all wiped out by the operating expenses. This was general, according to the showing of other railroads, except the anthractic coalers, and failing to show results of increase in freight rates, which went into effect in December and from which benefits to earnings were hoped for.

The feature of yesterday's slump, in which buying orders for export were considered unsatisfactory is relation to the exchange market, but renewed confidence is felt in a concession of the buil campaign.

Declaration of an extra dividend on Pressed Steel Car did not result in any paign.

Declaration of an extra dividend on Pressed Steel Car did not result in any animated demand for the stock. General Electric made a smart advance in the late trading, due presumably to reports of a deal with a riyal company. Bt. Louis and San Francisco common recovered a part of its loss of the early afternoon, but elsewhere the list was devoid of interest.

The day's operations, were the of interest.

The day's operations were the smallest thus far this year, and the closing was dull and steady with many of the fractional gains over the previous day.

The bond market was dull and generally heavy. Total sales, par value, 12,196,000. United States Government bonds were unchanged on last call.

The total sales of stocks for the day were 252,700 shares.

NEW LOW RECORD ESTABLISHED FOR 1903

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
W YORK, Jan. 28.—The Evening

To-day's transactions on the Stock Exchange established a new low record for 1903, and were in fact, all but nominal. The report that a good part of the Wall Street frademity is proparing to leave New York for Palm Beach and other resorts of winter recreation is probably better founded than many other recent rumors.

The Mall and Express said:

The indisposition to enter into new commitments was more marked than at any previous time in a long while, and there were frequent periods during the day_when the market was practically stugmant. A condition similar to that on the local exchange prevalled at London, and the indifference of the foreigners was reflected in operations through the cable of less than 5,000 shares. In the absence of any other cause speculative Wall Street attributed the duliness on both sides of the Atlantic to the delay in completing the Venezuelan settlement. In such a market as that witnessed here to-day, fluctuations were naturally devoid of significance. The trading element practically furnished the business and fluctuations of the day, as the public and prominent professional interests took but little part in-speculation. Special sirength was developed in Amalgamated Copper, General Electric and the St. Louis and East Francisco shares; otherwise irregular price movements within a moderate range were the rule, and at intervals declines outnumbered advances because of a bearish sentiment among the traders. The pressure, however, was not marked at any time, and speculation was so narrow that extremely moderate sales or purchases had more influence than usual. The Commercial-Advertiser says:

In explaining the apathy of the current stock market, despite the absence of any unfavorable developments in the cutside situation, Wall Street observers are inclined to lay more emphasis unon the theory of an over-supply of securities for sale. The contention is that bankers, railroad and industrial syndicates have their resources so tied up in new capital issues that they have neither the means nor disposition to undertake a fresh market campaign. Pursuing this line of argument, the conclusion is reached that when the larger financial interests are satisfied that no bluyers can be attracted at the prices now offered, they will make seeking a market is very much in excess of the demand.

buying of this stock for some little time by a commission house which is sup-posed to have Standard Oil affliations. The weakest stock on the list was Penn-sylvania, the seiling of which was ascribed to an outside operator. The traders joined in the movement, prelipt-ing lower prices for the stock, because of its new borrowing and its proposition to obtain leave to double its capitaliza-tion.

traders joined in the movement, predicting lower prices for the slock, because of its new borrowing and its proposition to obtain leave to double its capitalization.

Ban Francisco and Alton advanced on what was called good buying, but no definits news in regard to either of the properties was obtainable.

Erie still continues to sell "mystery on." The solution of the mystery seems to be as far off as ever. Rates for money are unchanged, almost all loans and renewals being made at $3.

Prospects of gold shipments seem to be quite remote, the foreign exchange market declining still further to-day, and being now well below the point at which gold could be exported profitably.

General Electric took another spurt and gained several points on the day's transactions.

Coast Line was in better demand, sales of $35 shares being made at 1354. Bales of $35 shares of the "first paid" were made at 42. It is said that the market is pretty well cleaned up on Coast Line, and it is predicted it will sell much higher.

Louisville is also doing better, and Joseph makes this statement:

"It can be said with all emphasis and truth that when the directors of the Louisville and Nashville meet five months bence to take action upon the August dividend the amount that will there be paid will not be less than three per cent. We say not less, because it is probable that in declaring two and a half per cent, an extra dividend of one per cent, will then be forthcoming.

"Should this molicy not be adopted then Louisville and Nashville will be placed definitely upon a six per cent, basis. We cannot make the assertion too strong, because it comes to us from those that are highest in authority. One particularly shrowd judge of the market says: I expect to see Louisville and Nashville will sell and ville and Nashville will sell and particularly shrowd independent of the market says: I expect to see Louisville and Nashville is now selling at and I foresaw its dividend prospects, per share one day, which traders will and long marks, its dividend $35,991.

For the third week in December St.
Louis and San Francisco earnings in-creased $57,794; Mexican Central, $56,805;
Big Four, $81,494.

Age points, became very active and decidedly stronger, January contracts going to an advance of 19 points and the rest of the list at best showing an advance of 6012 points. The market was finally firm at practically the level of the session, the improvement being a matter of 5011 points, except on January, which closed at a net rigo of 18 points. Business wa sextraordinary heavy, the total transactions in futures being estimated at 500,000 bales. At to-day's best prices the trading level was 305 points above the predictions high mark. The upward movement had its start in unexpectedly strong sables. yous high mars. In unexpectedly strong sables.

Private cables stated that the English improvement was due to a heavy demand from spinners in view of the continued disappointment over proportions in movement of cotton from the interior of the belt and the unfilled promises which have been made for several months of a heavier movement and consequently lower prices. The statistical position of cotton remains quite as strong as ever.

The spot cotton markets of the country were 1-100 %c. higher. Reports from print cloths and yarn markets were still strong, and cotton goods generally were reported to be showing an upward tendency, gave a strong undertone to the afternoon market for cotton.
